

Workshop on The Integration of Valid Outcome Measures in Clinical Practice to Improve End-of-life Care

This one-day workshop will introduce outcome measurements in palliative care to multiple professional team members including doctors, nurses, social workers, psychologists, spiritual workers and so on. It will provide an overview of the rationale of using outcome measures, their role in improving quality of care, the science underpinning outcome measurements in palliative care, how to implement outcome measures in routine practice, and examples of global use of POS family measures. This workshop will be interactive and provides opportunities for participants to discuss the importance and use of outcome measures.
