

Dr. Celia H.Y. CHAN

Associate Professor
Department of Social Work and Social Administration
The University of Hong Kong

As a social work researcher and practitioner working in healthcare settings, Dr. Chan integrates research evidence with clinical experience by applying the Integrative Body-Mind-Spirit Intervention Model in working with different populations such as patients with reproductive issues such as fertility and infertility, pregnancy loss, eczema, psoriasis, insomnia, depression and anxiety. Her team is currently developing psycho-dermatology and conducting randomized-controlled studies in examining the efficacy of the model on children with eczema and their parent caregivers